F-1 Enrollment Requirements Changing Spring 2023

Since 2020, UT Dallas F-1 students have been following the SEVP temporary guidance for enrollment requirements due to COVID-19. The SEVP temporary guidance allowed F-1 students to apply more online courses towards their enrollment requirements than is usually allowed, but only as long as the school was not fully operational due to effects of the pandemic.

As of Spring 2023, UT Dallas will have returned to pre-pandemic operations and F-1 students must follow the standard F-1 regulations for enrollment. This means only one hybrid or online course can count towards your full-time enrollment requirements each semester. For example, a graduate student who is required to take 9 credit hours to be full-time enrolled would need at least 6 credit hours of face-to-face coursework. Hybrid courses are considered online courses.

Pregnant and Parent Students

The University of Texas at Dallas is committed to creating an accessible and supportive environment for pregnant and parenting students in compliance with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Texas Education Code, Section 51.982, and other applicable federal and state laws.

Parenting students are eligible for early registration for courses to the extent others have access to early registration of those same courses. To determine if you are eligible for early registration, complete the Pregnant and Parenting Self-Identification Form available on the Institutional Compliance website.

For more information about resources and support available to pregnant and parenting students, see UTD's Pregnant and Parenting Resources. For additional questions, contact the Title IX Coordinator at 972-883-2306 or TitleIXCoordinator@utdallas.edu.

Electing a Class as Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit

Credit/No Credit and Pass/Fail grading options:
