Graduate Assistantships

Apply for a Teaching Assistantship!

The Jindal School of Management (JSOM) provides teaching assistantship (TA) and research assistantship (RA) to highly qualified graduate students currently ENROLLED in JSOM. Assistantship requirements may include but are not limited to academic performance in UTD courses, prior experience and exceptional skills required by the academic area.

Be Advised

- New incoming students are not eligible for TA/RA assistantship until they finish their first semester and earn a UTD GPA of 3.400 or higher. Once these requirements are met, new students can apply for employment the following semester.

- Applicants cannot update their resume or application once submitted.
- Applicants must apply online every semester (assistantship is not automatically renewed, and prior employment does not guarantee nor warrant any subsequent appointment).
- DO NOT pursue faculty or staff to make recommendations to the hiring person or department to hire you as a TA. Do not seek a recommendation letter from the same, as it is not required. Any violation of the policies listed here will result in voiding one's application.

Application Requirements

Failure to comply with any of the requirements for any reason (planned or unplanned) results in revocation of the assistantship and associated privileges and benefits, including but not limited to revocation of the in-state tuition (if applicable).

All JSOM graduate students applying for an assistantship:

- MUST review and get familiar with the UTD policies related to graduate assistantship.
- MUST be in good academic standing and free of any academic dishonesty/affairs record with the Dean of Students (Office of Student Affairs). Applicants authorize JSOM to check student records when applying. Please see Community Standards and Conduct for University Policies.
- MUST be a current JSOM graduate student and has already earned a minimum UTD GPA of 3.400 (incoming new students are not eligible and should apply for employment the following semester).
- MUST be enrolled in graduate coursework (at least nine credit hours in Fall and Spring, or six credit hours in summer semester, even during the last or graduating semester) and maintain those required hours with academic good standing during the entire employment semester.
- MUST attend two required orientations by the UTD Office of Graduate Studies and JSOM graduate office.
- MUST attend one of the specific UTD HR Employment Express sessions to complete the hiring process. Applicants are not considered employed until the hiring paperwork is complete.
- MUST be present at JSOM (in-person) at least ONE WEEK before the classes start to prepare for the assignment, meet with the respective instructors and discuss the details of duties and responsibilities.

- JSOM reserves the right to terminate the employment (including the immediate loss of in-state tuition if applicable) at any time during the semester for unsatisfactory performance or not fulfilling the commitment.
- MUST pay their tuition or make appropriate arrangements with the UTD's bursar office by the deadline. The students' accounts will be updated/refunded (if applicable) after the census day.

Apply Now

— I am a new incoming student. Can I apply for a TA/RA assistantship?

No, you are not eligible. One of the requirements is to have a minimum UTD GPA of 3.400 that you have not earned yet. However, you are welcome to apply for employment the following semester.

— Can I do an internship and be a TA during the same semester?

No.

— What is the selection process?

TA assignments are determined by the hiring program based on the needs of the department and faculty. The hiring departments review all applications and select applicants based on several criteria, including the highest number of credit hours completed, highest GPA earned and academic performance in UTD courses. For example, an applicant who has completed 15 semester credit hours with a 3.900 GPA has priority over an applicant who has completed nine semester credit hours with a 3.900 GPA.

— When does my TA/RA assistantship start?

You are not a TA/RA until the UTD HR completes all hiring paperwork.

— Do I get in-state tuition?

The out-of-state, non-Texas resident or international students with an F1 visa are eligible for the in-state tuition work for 20 hours per week.

— When do I get paid?

your first paycheck. Instead, you would receive it the following month.

— This semester, I am a TA/RA. Do I get my assistantship again next semester?

No, you must apply online again each semester. The assistantship is not automatically renewed, and prior employment does not guarantee nor warrant any subsequent appointment.

— This semester, I am a TA/RA, and I got an internship (or a job offer). Can I leave?

No. You must not seek an internship and/or a job placement while being a TA/RA. If you leave, the implications on faculty and hundreds of students are significant because you leave them with no support. Also, if you received an in-state tuition, it will be revoked immediately, and you must refund UTD as well.

— Is my TA/RA employment a binding contract?

Yes, your employment is binding. Remember, a government-funded university hires you.

— What should I do if I have an issue with the faculty?

You must meet and discuss any possible issues with the faculty directly. Most often, straightforward communication with the faculty would resolve the issue. Contact the Area Coordinator of the class to which you are assigned if there are unresolved issues with your assigned faculty member.

— Do I need to attend any TA/RA orientations?

Yes, the TA/RA employment requires two specific orientations: 1) UTD Office of Graduate Studies and 2) JSOM graduate office. It is your responsibility to attend both orientations as stated in the requirements. Otherwise, you will be dropped from the assistantship (no exceptions). This also
